Dear Mr Trummel

SECTION 7, DATA PROTECTION ACT 1998-SUBJECT ACCESS APPLICATION

Thank you for your recent subject access application.

Section 7 of the Data Protection Act relates to an individual’s right of access to personal data relating to them held by a data controller. Section 7(3) states: “A data controller is not obliged to comply with a request under this section unless he is supplied with such information as he reasonably require in order to satisfy himself as to the identity of the person making the request and to locate the information which that person seeks.”

You have not described the personal data you believe that Cheshire Constabulary is holding about you; the list you enclosed refers to other people. The Data Protection Act does not give access to information relating to third parties.

Once you have clarified the personal information relating to you which you seek and provided sufficient information to enable me to locate it, I will proceed with your application - I will have 40 days to respond once I am satisfied that I have adequate information to allow me to carry out the local searches.

I have retained your application and identification documents in our pending file awaiting your response.

If you need any further assistance please write to me at the address below.

Yours sincerely

Patricia O’Brien
Data Protection Officer

Patricia O’Brien, Data Protection Officer.

I refer to your letter 21 July 2014.

"To help us find any information that may be held about you, please supply additional details in the box below (and continue on a separate sheet if you need to). To assist us, you are advised to include, where relevant, a description of the information you are looking for; a crime reference or incident number, a description of the circumstances in which you had contact with the Police - for example, were you a person reporting an offence or incident, a witness, a victim, a correspondent, an offender etc.; dates and times; and any other information you have that can assist us in finding the information you seek. If you are requesting photographs or CCTV footage, please supply a photograph of your face (e.g. passport photo) to assist identification. Please note, a failure to provide such details may result in your application being rejected and returned to you."

The chronology that I attached to my request fulfills the identification criteria. If you refute that statement, then clarify your request with particularity in the form of an interrogatory and I will provide further information.

I am the first party to the request; therefore, I do not understand the problem. The names I have supplied relate to people that have either filed complaints against me or been involved in the actions described in the chronology. I have further explained them by providing access to web page URLs.

For example, Damian Moran, ICO allegedly filed false and misleading charges against me with Cheshire Constabulary then withheld details of those charges. PC Lawrence (Hoole) harassed me and my elderly neighbours at night regarding the Moran issues and did not reveal the content of any charges. Repeated requests have been to no avail.

I am entitled to know the names of people that file frivolous and vexatious allegations and specific details of any charges so that I can take whatever action I deem necessary. Hence the reason for my request for disclosure documents. I am entitled to copies of all documents held by Cheshire Constabulary that mention me.

Please do a search using the information that I have provided or be more specific about the additional details you need by clarifying your request for further information.

I requested a response by email because I travel extensively. If you must respond by mail, then please also send a PDF attached to an email message; otherwise, I may not receive your letters for several months. Please also use my reference in addition to your own.

SECTION 7, DATA PROTECTION ACT 1998 - SUBJECT ACCESS APPLICATION

The Data Protection Act places an obligation on the Chief Officer when holding personal data, to provide a copy of that information (unless an exemption applies) to the individual concerned, on request. From the personal details supplied in your application, please find enclosed the information that the Chief Officer is required to supply under the provisions of the Act.

This information was taken from our Records Management Systems and Professional Standards Department.

- Information taken from our Records Management Systems is processed for policing purposes.
- Information taken from the Centurion Database is collated by the Professional Standards Department, whose duties under the Police Reform Act 2002 require that Department to undertake investigations and enquiries in relation to allegations of breaches of the Police (Conduct) Regulations 2004 and/or criminal offences committed by police officers.

Information may be obtained from a variety of sources, members of the public, police officers or external agencies and will be used by the police for official police business. Information may be disclosed to other agencies only in line with their statutory powers, for example, the Court Service, other Police Forces in UK or overseas, the Home Office or the Probation Service.

In accordance with the requirements of the Data Protection Act 1998, the information may have been edited to remove any information that would identify another living individual or is police operational data. In addition, section 29(1) of the Data Protection Act 1998 states that information obtained for the purposes of preventing and detecting crime, apprehending and prosecuting offenders or the assessment and collection of tax or duty may be withheld if disclosure would be likely to prejudice any of these matters.
